BRIEF HISTORY OF THE REGIMENT

The regiment was raised in 1685 by Henry, Duke of Norfolk and was known in its early years by the name of its current Colonel. In 1751, when regiments were given numbers to mark their seniority, it was designated the 12th Regiment of Foot. It became the 12th, or East Suffolk Regiment in 1781 and the Suffolk Regiment in 1881. Except for two brief periods the regiment had one battalion until 1842, when a Reserve Battalion was created, which became the 2nd Battalion in 1858. There were two Territorial battalions - the 4th (1908-1961) and 5th (1908-1921, 1939-1945) - and during the two World Wars further 'Service' battalions were created.

In 1947 the 2nd Battalion was disbanded and in 1959 the remaining Regular battalion, the 1st, was amalgamated with the Royal Norfolk Regiment to form the 1st East Anglian Regiment; this in turn merged with other regiments in 1964 to form the Royal Anglian Regiment.

PRINTED HISTORIES

The Suffolk Regiment by G Moir (1969) is a brief single-volume history while The Old Dozen: A Century of Photographs (2002) relates the history of the regiment since the 1860s through photographs. However the four official histories provide the best general overview of the regiment's activities. These books should be the starting-point for any research into the regiment's history or the background of any individual soldier's service.

History of the 12th (The Suffolk) Regiment 1685-1913 by Lieut-Col EAH Webb (1914) (Reprint, Naval and Military Press, 2001)

The History of the Suffolk Regiment 1914-1927 by Lieut-Col CCR Murphy (1928) (Reprint, Naval and Military Press, 2002)

The Suffolk Regiment 1928-1946 by Col WN Nicholson (1948) (Reprint, Naval and Military Press, 2002)

The History of the Suffolk Regiment 1946-1959 by Maj FA Godfrey (1988)

There is a detailed history of the 5th Battalion in the Great War: The History of the 1/5th Battalion, The Suffolk Regiment by Capt A Fair and Capt ED Wolton. The collection includes a number of accounts of particular actions, mainly from the 1939-1945 War.

THE SUFFOLK REGIMENTAL GAZETTE

Another important printed source for the history of the regiment is the regimental journal. The Gazette was published between February 1890 and July 1959 except for October 1914-December 1915 and January 1917-June 1920. Publication varied from monthly to three issues a year.

Regular features include photographs (from November 1897); births, marriages and deaths (mainly officers after 1939); detailed lists of appointments, promotions, awards of certificates (all ranks, but officers only from 1945); sporting and social events; articles about the regiment's history and traditions. Before the Great War short stories were included. After 1945 much greater emphasis was placed on the activities of the various branches of the Old Comrades Association.

THE STRUCTURE OF THE CATALOGUE

The structure of the catalogue reflects the organisation of the regiment and consists of sections A: general regimental; B-T: individual battalions; U-X: regimental institutions; Y: individual soldiers; Z: miscellaneous. In more detail, the sections are:

- A All records of the 12th Foot before 1842; after 1842, any records relating to the regiment as a whole, or to more than one battalion
- B 1st Battalion (1842-1959)
- C 2nd Battalion (1842-1947)
- D The Depot. Created as a Brigade Depot in 1873; the Gibraltar Barracks in Bury St Edmunds were built in 1878
- E Militia/3rd Battalion. The Militia records start in 1681. The West Suffolk Militia was designated the 3rd Battalion the Suffolk Regiment in 1881
- F Volunteer units, up to the creation of the Territorial Force (later Territorial Army) in 1908
- G 4th (TA) Battalion, from 1908 to 1961 (when it merged with the Cambridgeshire Regiment (TA))
- H 5th (TA) Battalion from 1908 to 1921 and again from 1939 to 1945
- I 6th (Cyclist) Battalion (1908-1918)
- J 7th Battalion (First and Second World Wars)
- K 8th Battalion (First and Second World Wars)
- L 9th Battalion (First World War)
- M 10th Battalion (First World War)
- N 11th Battalion (First World War)
- O 12th Battalion (First World War)
- P 14th Battalion (First World War)
- Q The Suffolk Yeomanry (15th Battalion the Suffolk Regiment 1917-1918)
- R Second Line battalions, 1939-1945
- S The Suffolk Volunteer Regiment (the Great War equivalent of the Home Guard)
- T Suffolk Home Guard. This was organised in 11 battalions and affiliated to the Suffolk Regiment
- U The Suffolk Regiment Association, which co-ordinated regimental activities
- V The Old Comrades Association: formed in 1908 to maintain the spirit of comradeship and to help members below commissioned rank who were in need

- W The Suffolk Regimental Gazette
- X The regimental museum, founded in 1935
- Y Records of individual soldiers: items written by, relating to or collected by officers and men, listed in alphabetical order of soldier
- Z Miscellaneous material, including printed books, papers relating to war memorials and war graves, the 1st East Anglian and Royal Anglian Regiments

TRACING INDIVIDUAL SERVICE CAREERS

The regimental archives contain no muster rolls of the whole regiment and there are few of a whole battalion. The printed histories do contain many names but these tend to be of officers or senior NCOs, and are selective rather than comprehensive.

There are however a number of sources in the collection which can be used to research the career of an officer or soldier in the regiment.

The Regimental Gazette

The issues of the Gazette contain thousands of names and should certainly be consulted for the period when an individual was serving in the regiment. They are less useful for the two World Wars owing either to non-publication or conditions imposed by censorship.

The Army List

Officers' careers can be traced through successive issues of the Army List (A11). There are complete issues for the whole Army for 1733-1743 (Y1/93a), 1830 (Z1/2), 1914 (Z1/5) and 1939 (Z1/8) and the Suffolk Regiment sections only for 1685-1707, 1751, 1790, 1848, 1861 and most years from 1868 to 1950. The Volunteer Force List, January 1918 (Y1/72c) is the equivalent to the Army List for officers in the home defence Volunteer movement.

Printed lists of officers and men killed in action

- List of graves in the Transvaal*, 1902 (A14/8)
- List of graves in the Orange River Colony*, 1902 (A14/9)

PHOTOGRAPHS

The collection includes over 22,000 photographs, loose, in albums, on CDs or DVDs, illustrating the life of the regiment from 1862 to 1959: active service (from Afghanistan in 1880 onwards), peacetime activities at home and abroad, sporting and social events, individual soldiers and groups. There are also many photographs of the areas overseas in which the regiment served, particularly Egypt, India, Malta, Shanghai, South Africa, Palestine, France and Flanders.

Most of the photographs are at A15 (general), B12 (1st Battalion), C9 (2nd Battalion), D3 (Depot), E8 (3rd Battalion) and G6 (4th Battalion) but there are many at Y1 (individual soldiers' records): these are cross-referenced at the appropriate points in the catalogue. When individuals on a photograph are named, this fact is noted in the catalogue.

There is also a database available in the searchroom which lists the officers and men on every photograph in which individuals are named; it currently contains over 13,000 entries relating to c4,200 soldiers.

MAPS AND PLANS

There are many maps (manuscript and printed and at a variety of scales), mostly of the areas in which the regiment served from the mid-19th century. Of particular note are:

Trench maps, Western Front (A13/5-7; C2/2; C7/3; Y1/36b, 116, 164a, r, 168a, 212g, 244c, 323p, q)

Printed maps of the Western Front (A13/1-4; Y1/212e)

Gaza (H3/2)

Gallipoli (H3/1; Y1/165l, m; Y1/187b, c)

THE CAMBRIDGESHIRE REGIMENT

The Cambridgeshire Regiment was a Territorial regiment which had close links with the Suffolk Regiment, although it fought under its own name in the two World Wars. Its Great War history is told in The Cambridgeshires 1914 to 1919 by E Riddell and MC Clayton; for the period 1920-1961 see the Suffolk Regiment histories by Nicholson and Godfrey; Battalion at War - Singapore 1942 by M Moore (1988); Line of Lost Lives by JS Cosford (1988), Unbelievable but True by SR Lockwood (2006) and the Gazette (1920-1939). The regimental archives are at the Cambridgeshire Record Office, Shire Hall, Castle Hill, Cambridge CB3 0AP. (www.cambridgeshire.gov.uk/leisure/archives)
